Forecast For Northeast England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Friday 10 Dec 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Brighter but colder, with some sunshine and perhaps isolated showers.

Today:
Brighter but colder, with plenty of sunny spells but perhaps the odd blustery shower, these more likely over the Pennines. These showers will be heavy at times, with a little snow on hills, however many eastern areas should stay dry. Maximum temperature 6 deg C (43 deg F).

Tonight:
Any remaining showers should soon die away, with light winds and long clear spells leading to a widespread sharp frost and perhaps local icy patches. Minimum temperature -5 deg C (23 deg F).

Saturday:
Fine, cold and crisp to start, however soon clouding over from the west, ahead of a milder but wet and windy afternoon. Maximum temperature 10 deg C (50 deg F).

Outlook for Sunday to Tuesday:
Remaining rather changeable, breezy and unsettled through this period, with some sunny intervals but also showers or longer spells of rain. Milder than of late, but tempered by the wind.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.